Occasionally the lockers were broken and could not be made secure, or they were dirty and contained trash. The manager in one plant where the lockers were described as covered with an accumulation of dust, and as having broken hinges to the doors complained because the girls did not seem to appreciate the lockers and hence did not use them. Since the lockers failed to fulfill their function of protecting belongings from theft and dust, this fact is not surprising. Some authorities on the subject, however, prefer other arrangements than lockers. A type of cloakroom recommended is one equipped with iron racks, coat hangers, and shelves or boxes for hats and personal belongings. The system of having a matron to supervise the service facilities and to look after the cleaning of the rooms and the comfort of the girls is said to produce excellent results. In a large number of plants the only arrangements for wraps were hooks or nails on the walls of the workrooms. As one girl said, You wouldn't have that if you didn't find your-own nail and drive it in. The workers in one restaurant hung their wraps in the kitchen. An inspection of dusty workrooms and of jobs detrimental to clothes makes apparent the urgent need of a room where wraps can be kept and clothing changed if necessary. Frequently women desire to change their clothes and especially their shoes before and after working; the...
