Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Yot-Che-Ka: An Indian Play in One Act Charming Comedy in four acts, by Winchell Smith. The cast calls for seventeen males and three females, but by doubling a number of the small male parts it can be played by eleven males and three females. Three interior and one exterior scenes. Costumes modern. Plays 21/2 hours. It is upon the advice and capital of his friends that Nat Duncan, the young fortune banter, decides lo embark upon a wife-hunting expedition. The schema is to go to a small town and live very quietly for one year. The theory upon which the pursuit is conducted is that in a small town there is at least one girl who has a fortune. All the young men who are worth while move away to larger cities to make their fortunes, but the poor girls have to remain behind, and those who are really above the average are forced to remain single, because they will not marry the riff-raff which remains, according to the theorists. This leaves Duncan with a...
