Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Painting Popularly Explained: With the Practice of the Art, and Historical Notices of Its Progress The originator and architect of this magnificent instrument had long been distinguished in scientific research as Lord Oxmantown; and may be considered to have gracefully commemorated his succession to the Earldom of Ross, and his Presidency of the Royal Society, by the completion of this marvellous work, with which his name will be hereafter indissolubly associated. The Great Reflecting Telescope at Birr Castle (of which the Frontispiece represents a portion) will be found fully described at pp. 96-99 of the present volume of Curiosities of Science. This matchless instrument has already disclosed forms of stellar arrangement indicating modes of dynamic action never before contemplated in celestial mechanics. In these departments of research, the examination of the configurations of nebulae, and the resolution of nebulae into stars (says the Rev. Dr. Scoresby), the six-foot speculum has had its grandest triumphs, and the noble artificer and observer the highest rewards of his talents and enterprise. Altogether, the quantity of work done during a...
