For the people of this age we want the poetical fervor of our own times; we want the ideas by which our thoughts and feelings are inspired, embodied in verse, so that our songs of praise, our words of cheer, and our devotional aspirations may be harmonious responses to the highest conceptions of the soul. And we have these. The poetry of to-day is replete with the hopes and faiths of to-day. It is practical, and at the same time glowing with a spiritual beauty commensurate with the loftiest ideality of the mind. It has...
