Excerpt: . . . EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS TO HIS FRIENDS. 26th March, 1801. It would not be very difficult to prove that the period which we spend at School is the happiest part of life; it is not therefore wonderful that we should look back on it with pleasure, as by a natural connexion we blend many circumstances in our recollection, which then added perhaps but little to our happiness, and it is well known that we invariably view events with greater pleasure as we recede from them; just as in a distant retrospect on a wood, we view the mass of verdure with admiration, and forget the thorns and brambles through which we were obliged to effect our passage: but the pleasures of recollection can seldom be unalloyed; for either we are now happier than we then were, or we are less so: if the former be...
